

Global Education Office

2026 SPRING

GLOBAL INITIATIVES MASTER CLASS SERIES: International Student Success

Institutional Preparedness: Focusing on What Matters — A Systems Approach to International Student Services

April 21, 2026

11 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Student Commons - Virginia Salons C-D

What can international educators learn from the manufacturing floor or the emergency room? Surprisingly, a lot.

While the manufacturing and healthcare industries have long relied on Lean Process Improvement (LPI) to ensure quality and safety under pressure, higher education has been much slower, perhaps even reluctant, to embrace this approach. This interactive masterclass demonstrates how principles of LPI—derived from Japanese and U.S. organizational management philosophies—can be applied to optimize international student services, from processing applications to planning community events. We will strip away the jargon, break down the frameworks and explore real-life case studies of ways LPI enhances the student experience. Participants will leave the masterclass with a collection of tools they can immediately apply within their own work environment.

David L. Di Maria, Ph.D.

*Vice Provost for Global Engagement
University of Maryland, Baltimore County*

About the facilitator:

David L. Di Maria currently serves as the inaugural Vice Provost for Global Engagement at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County. He is also the author or editor of more than 50 publications, including Achieving More with Less: Lean Management in the International Student Office and four other books. Di Maria previously served as president of AIRC: The Association of International Enrollment Management, chair of NAFSA's International Education Leadership Knowledge Community and faculty for AIEA's Leadership Academy for New Senior International Officers. He completed his doctoral studies at the University of Minnesota, where he studied international education from a P-16 perspective and focused his research on international student services.

View more information and register for the workshop at global.vcu.edu/master-class-series/

The Global Initiatives Master Class Series is a workshop series the Global Education Office offers to deans, associate deans, faculty and staff. The workshops are designed to provide support, recommendations and guidance about engaging international and domestic students in global engagement activities. Coordinated by Jill Blondin, Ph.D., vice provost for global initiatives at Virginia Commonwealth University, the series is in its third year of implementation.